Women in Black is Collingwood's own Female Coterie group with a twist, that is, it is not exclusively for women!

The women's coterie group has been a part of the Collingwood Football Club for over 25 years, when they were known as the Dolly Greys. The idea was that it gives female supporters the opportunity to contribute to the club in some way, for example in 1997 the iron entrance gates added to the Social club carpark at Victoria Park were paid for by the Dolly Greys. Women in Black contribute to the club today through player sponsorship and donations, which in 2009 included a treadmill for the altitude room.

Women in Black offers something for every age including exciting events with players in attendance, networking opportunities, plus special offers and outings not available to other members, or supporters of the Collingwood Football Club.

WIB members are very proud and passionate supporters.
